1,500 ATTEND JOINT MEETING

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs
Meet in Linker Hall Last Evening

Paul W. Mahoney, alderman and lawyer, was elected deputy grand master of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of the state this morning.

The other officers are:
David Schreiner, Lancaster, grand master.

J. S. Craig, Superior, grand warden.

Richard Hoe, Milwaukee, grand secretary.

William George Thwaites, Milwaukee, grand treasurer.

G. Stanley Joslin, Belleville, grand chaplain.

A trustee and one or two other officers are yet to be selected, and
the appointments are to be made.

The lodge members hope to complete this during the afternoon.

1,500 at Joint Meeting

Last evening the grand lodge and the Rebekahs joined in a meeting at Linker hall. Nearly 1,500 were there and an excellent program was carried out.

The speaker of the evening was Paul W. Mahoney, who has been in practical charge of the convention in La Crosse. Mr. Mahoney gave a hearty welcome to the visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. He congratulated the lodge on the excellent turn out to the convention and dwelt on the good qualities of La Crosse, giving a history of the founding of the city,
the Odd Fellow work here, and elsewhere. He told of the various institutions here, the number of men employed, the articles manufactured
and the estimated value.

Future Brilliant

"The works of the past have been marvelous; the achievements of the present wonderful and the possibilities of the future resplendent beyond
the brightest vision of the dreamer," said Mahoney. "There are wrongs to be righted, reforms to be effected, prejudices to be overcome and great lessons in charity, justice, toleration
and humanity to be learned."

"We congratulate ourselves upon having arisen above the level of barbarism, yet the serene heights of true civilization—that civilization that is to bring true happiness to the many
—is far beyond. There are great

Asks Tribune To Locate Brother

Do you know this man?
He is Oscar Blyberg.
His brother, George Blyberg, Missoula, Mont., wants to locate him. He has not heard from him since in 1910,
when he was working in La Crosse. He has asked the Tribune to help in locating him.

George Blyberg's description of his brother says that he is 5 feet 9 inches tall,
heavy set, with dark hair
and blue eyes. While in La Crosse, his brother says, he went by the name of Ogden Blyberg.

The last time his brother was heard from, says George Blyberg, he was working at the La Crosse Knitting mills.

If you know this man, or where he can be found, let
The Tribune know.

GET IN POLITICS BANKERS URGE AT GROUP MEET HERE

Bankers should enter politics. It is their duty and if they fail to take an interest in political affairs they have no right to proclaim themselves
as American citizens.

This was the consensus of opinion among fifty bankers attending the opening session of Group 7, Wisconsin Bankers' association at the city hall
this morning.

The question of a banker dabbling
in politics was one of four subjects
on the "roll call." Other subjects listed for discussion were "Does your bank pay your general expenses
in going to group meetings?" the question charging exchange on local checks and whether or not certificates of deposits should be issued payable at different dates bearing different rate of interest.

Influence Legislation
In his annual address Group President C. B. Melby, Whitehall, urged that if politics is such an attractive business the bankers—the real businessmen—should get into the game.
He intimated that Wisconsin banks would be in better condition if they had taken more interest in state and national legislation.

H. A. Moehlenpah, Clinton, president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, advocated bankers in politics. Mr. Moehlenpah was one time candidate for lieutenant governor on the democratic ticket and is now being urged by his friends to enter the gubernatorial race as a progressive.

Moehlenpah Here
Mr. Moehlenpah addressed the group on the "Advantages of Having County Organizations Within the Group."

H. H. Browner, Milwaukee, a public accountant, spoke on a "Central Bureau of Credit Information" while Louis Quarles, Milwaukee, association counsel, explained the "Responsibility of a Bank For Its Safety Deposit Boxes."

George Dudley, West Salem, cashier of the La Crosse County bank,
led an informal discussion on various topics, the most important of which was whether or not the bankers approved of the division of Wisconsin.

MONTREAL, Que., June 3.—
Whether the sunken liner Empress of Ireland, in which it is now officially declared 1,024 lives were lost,
is to be raised from the bottom of the St. Lawrence to recover the hundreds of bodies in her hull or whether she will be dynamited to pieces is expected to be decided today at a conference here of government officials and representatives of Lloyds.
From England there have come to the government at Ottawa many demands that the Empress be raised.
It is believed there will be great indignation if there is no attempt made to recover the bodies and to meet this demand if possible the government is understood to be anxious to have the liner brought again to the surface if only long enough to extract
the bodies from her berths.

Orders were issued here today that the crew of the Storstad, which sunk
the liner, and the survivors of the Empress crew be held under surveillance until the hearing on the disaster begins. Lord Mersey, who headed the Titanic court of inquiry, is expected to preside at the session of the high commission to probe the Empress wreck.

KIDNAPERS KEEP BOY

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 3.—Kidnapers of seven year old Warren McKarrick of Philadelphia failed to keep an agreement to turn the child
over to Helen Bates, a Philadelphia detective, here late last night. Miss Bates left early today for Elmira.
She predicted that within forty-eight hours the boy would be given up.

BAN SPOONERS' BOOTH

CHICAGO, June 3.—"Spooners"
booth in wine rooms and back rooms of saloons will be outlawed by the city council, it was announced today, the result of an understanding reached between Chicago club-women and representatives of liquor organizations.

gan, Charles Osborn, its former governor, admitted when he arrived here
from around the world tour today
that he might again make the race
for his former office.

AYLWARD MAY GET OUT OF TOGA RACE

Rumor that Madison Man May Enter Contest for Gubernatorial Nomination

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 3.—
John A. Aylward may retire from the contest for the democratic nomination for United States senator and become a candidate for governor. There is said to be a possibility that he will decide not to be a candidate for either office.

Following the meeting of the democratic state committee Monday afternoon, democrats who are opposed to Judge Karel's gubernatorial candidacy talked over the situation, plans and policies.
No definite program was decided upon, but some progressives state that beyond question a progressive democratic primary ticket will enter the field in opposition to a slate that Judge Karel
and his friends are said to be arranging. Messrs. Aylward, A. J. Schmitz and Paul O. Hustung were among those who gathered in council, but it is rumored that opinions
as to what should be done varied greatly. There is some talk of holding another informal conference in the near future.

GEESSE KILL BABY

JEANETTE, Pa., June 3.— Keepers of geese in Claridge, near here, were ordered today to keep the fowl
within their yards, following the death of the twenty-months old son of Mrs. Martin Jaky. While at play in the yard, the baby was attacked by geese belonging to a neighbor and pecked
to death.

HUERTA WANTS U. S. SHIELD

Dictator's Stand Is Taken to Indicate His Desire to Have Protection

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 3.—
The main issue in the Mexican situation again rested with Washington today. The Mexican delegates to the mediation conference last night formally declared that Gen. Huerta is ready to retire, but in their statement were two words, setting forth
the conditions under which the dictator will abdicate, which put the issue squarely up to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Carranza Must Halt
Huerta is prepared to withdraw when Mexico is "politically pacified,"
and this means that the United States

Killed on Cruiser

WASHINGTON, June 3.—
One man, Bernard Gionest
of Carbury, N. D., was killed and two others seriously injured in an explosion
aboard the scout cruiser Salem, at Vera Cruz, according to a dispatch from Admiral Badger this afternoon.

Must Bring Pressure to Bear upon

Gen. Carranza today down his arms or deny the right of Huerta to make conditions as to his abdication.
Gen. Huerta will retire when Mexico is at peace; when there is no organized revolt in progress, when the men of the armies now in the field
shall have returned to their homes and order is restored. This, it was learned today, is the condition intended to be construed in the statement which the Mexican delegates issued last night.

They expect cessation of hostilities

in the north.

Huerta Behind U. S. Protection

That Huerta has taken the position that the United States must save him from the constitutionalists
and Zapatistas was the belief here today. The reply of the mediators received here last week was received by Rafael Gubaron of the Carranza junta in Washington today. This reply is understood again to ask whether the constitutionalists are willing to declare an armistice and discuss internal as well as international questions.

Washington Looks to Rebels

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Re-establishment of peace in Mexico is up to Carranza. This was the position of officials here today, the result of important over night mediation developments at Niagara Falls.

Huerta's agreement to retire paved the way, it is believed, for a solution acceptable to Carranza.

Administration officials here today redoubled their efforts to influence the constitutionalists to accept the proposal of the mediators. The chief stumbling bluff was the insistence of the mediators for settlement of Mexico's internal affairs. Some-way will be found, officials stated,
to overcome objection of Carranza to this proposal.

Obregon Holds Up News
ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, OFF MAZATLAN, May 23.—(By Mail to San Diego, Cal., June 3.)—
The constitutionalist troops of Gen.
Oliver Obregon, in western Mexico, have been kept in ignorance of the American occupation of Vera Cruz. Obregon fears if the soldiers learn the truth they may unite with the federals to drive all Americans out of the country.

This was the word brought on board today by Gen. M. M. Keyes, special agent of the American department of state.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION FOR HOME COMING WEEK

An information bureau building
to be used during the Home-Coming week, has been started on North Fourth street. As soon as this is completed La Crosse people are asked to file lists of rooms which may be rented during that week.

William Doerflinger, chairman of the committee on entertainment, is making all plans for the week and promises some novel and interesting stunts.

The general committee is making plans for booking free street attractions and everything is going along with a good swing.

Here's another in response to the invitations sent out by the committee:

Your kind invitation to

Home Coming Week received and read with a great deal of interest by both myself and wife.

Week is certainly a good one and doubtless will be thoroughly appreciated and taken advantage of by many old timers and I look forward with great pleasure to the event and am anticipating meeting old friends of former years.

"La Crosse is a beautiful city
and we are often home sick for a sight of the bluffs and the old Mississippi.

"If nothing unforeseen happens we certainly will be there.

MORRIS SEES BIG VICTORY THIS FALL

Lieut. Governor After Tour
of Several Counties Pre-

Election

MASK OFF THE PHILLIP MOVEMENT

People, He Says, Know the Men In It Are the Same
Who Opposed Progressive Legislation

MADISON, Wis., June 3.—"The state of Wisconsin is going republican at the fall elections by a large majority."

This prediction was made here today by Lieut. Governor Thomas Morris, candidate for United States senator on the republican ticket, upon his return from a tour of near a score of counties, including the northern counties from Lake to river. Mr. Morris spoke at Fountain City and Bayfield, and at Ashland he was the principal speaker at a big republican banquet. In addition to discussing political matters with leaders in the north, he held conferences at Green Bay and Milwaukee.

"This is going to be a progressive republican victory," said Mr. Morris.
"The people all over the state are recalling the fact that in 1900 and 1902, when the stalwarts had stolen control of the legislature, they violated their platform pledges. When the progressive republicans gained control of the legislature, the people
remember that the platform pledges were kept. Already the mask is off the Phillip movement. The people recall that the backers of this movement are made up of the same group which fought the primary election law, pure food legislation,
tax legislation, the railroad legislation, the income tax, the inheritance
tax, shorter hours for labor of women and children, the workmen's compensation law, and in fact all the progressive legislation of the last decade. All this is shown in the character of the resolutions which they have adopted in the stalwart county meetings."

Mr. Morris will formally open his speaking campaign at Racine next Tuesday evening at a large republican rally. In his address he will discuss the big issues on which hangs
the present campaign.

NAVY SCANDAL IS CAPITAL GOSSIP

Official Probe of Wine Party on Presidential Yacht Starts
Rumor

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Society
rolled under its tongue today a choice morsel, involving a "scandal" in navy circles including gay midnight
champagne parties on the palatial presidential yacht Mayflower. Circumstantial gossip rumors in addition to an official investigation of at least one such party, lent credence to the report.

Involved in the affair, according to reports, were Past Paymaster Edward C. Little and Lieut. Archibald
C. Douglas, junior grade. Little resigned and Douglas has since been transferred to the Asiatic fleet.

Two navy officers' wives and two women, said to belong to the "near fashionable" set were also involved.
At the time of one of the "parties"
the names of two naval officers' wives were discussed in social circles as involved in the scandal. Investigation by high naval officials, however, disproved any connection
of these particular women with the incident.

Prominent Democrat Men-

Who Wants to Go

SEES GREAT PROSPERITY HERE

Maintains Wisconsin Is the Greatest State in Union
and that They Are All Coming Back to Live

"Tom" Morris has a splendid chance to carry the state for the senatorial nomination.

Rock county is strong for him.
The democratic opportunity would be good were it not for the fact that the party is hopelessly split.

There is a strong hostility towards the present state administration.

McGovern is not as strong a candidate for the senate as is Morris.

The above were declarations today
of H. A. Moehlenpah, Clinton, Rock county, Wis., here to attend the ninth annual convention of Group 7, Wisconsin Bankers' association. He is being urged as a democratic gov-ernatorial candidate and at one time was candidate for lieutenant governor.

Hostility Great

"At present there is a strong hostility to the present state administration," said Mr. Moehlenpah this morning. "The prospects would be great for a democratic victory were it not for the fact that the party is hopelessly divided in two factions.
This split is due to the attitude of democrats on progressive measures,
the Aylward wing standing for all that tends to place the rule in the hands of the people."

He believed that Morris is stronger than McGovern as a senatorial candidate, maintaining that much of the hostility against the administration is directed at the governor.

No "Good Old Times"

The Clinton banker is one of the progressive type of democrats who does not enter heartily into the present hue and cry against "high taxes"
and who does not proclaim himself
as favoring a return to "the good old days" when the state was dominated by interests for the few and against the many.

"There is at present a great cry against high taxes and too much pro-gressivism," he said. "I can't say that the taxes are unwarrantably high. Of course there may be instances where appropriations could be curtailed. I believe the university is doing a great work and have no sympathy with the attacks upon it."

"They are claiming we are too pro-

Intellectual battles to be fought in which this grand organization of Rebekahs and Odd Fellows should take no ignoble part. Those who have acquired the power of money must learn that the true wealth of the world consists not in gold, not in silver, not in government fiat upon the dollar but in the heart and conscience of the people; that in ev-

JEREMIAH RYAN IS BURIED AT M'GREGOR

McGregor Baseball Team Wins Exciting Game Played with the Waukon Nine

M'GREGOR, Iowa, June 3.—The body of Jeremiah Ryan, who died at St. Joseph's hospital in Dubuque May 28, was brought to McGregor for burial. Mr. Ryan was an old resident of this place, having come here in November, 1864. For 26 years he was connected with the Stauer & Daubenger Lumber company and had a large business acquaintance through Clayton and Allamakee counties. Some years ago he gave up work because of his advancing age and in 1910 moved to Duquue with his wife. Since her death two years ago he has been at St. Joseph's hospital. He was 80 years of age at the time of death. Of the eight children who were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ryan, five are living: Edward C. and John F. of Des Moines; Margaret of St. Paul; Estelle, Great Falls, Mont.; and William of Milwaukee. John, William and Margaret brought the remains of their father to McGregor for burial. Services were held in St. Mary's church and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

A Beautiful Program
The services Memorial day took place as announced, the weather being favorable for an out of doors program. Early mass was sung in the Catholic church for the soldier dead who are buried in the Catholic cemetery. At 9 o'clock the floral committees drove to the two cemeteries and placed wreaths of flowers on the graves of the 56 soldiers who are buried at McGregor. At 12 o'clock, in accordance with General Logan's orders, the church bells were tolled for five minutes. At 1:30 a parade of old soldiers, women of the Relief corps, civic organizations and the school children of McGregor and North McGregor formed on lower Main street and marched to Buell park, where a program of patriotic music and speeches was given.

McGregor Wins
The game of baseball between McGregor and Waukon played Sunday was one of the best and most exciting ever held on the McGregor diamond. The two teams were very evenly matched and although the game was played on wet ground few errors were made by either side. At the beginning of the ninth inning the score stood two for McGregor to nothing for Waukon. Waukon went to bat. Two men were struck out and victory for McGregor seemed certain, when three balls were lined out in succession and with a suddenness that set the crowd mad, Waukon made three scores. Amid the wildest scene that has ever been known at a game in McGregor, the home team turned the seeming defeat in the last half to victory by two dramatic runs.

Berry Hotel Hit
During the electric storm between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Berry hotel, at North McGregor, was struck by lightning. The bolt tore off the side of one of the cupolas and demolished a brick chimney. A ball of fire went through the lobby. Miss Anna Berry, who was standing with her hand on the cash register, was thrown to the floor and rendered unconscious for several moments.

ALFALEA GENERAL IN STATE.

A Walworth county paper calls attention to the fact that while a few years ago the value of alfalfa was given little attention, it is common now to nearly all the farms of that county and that the farmers now appreciate its value. This is as it should be in all the counties of the state.

At Berlin a special alfalfa campaign is on. There it was found that the failures were for the reason that the well understood and easily complied with rules were disregarded in planting it. Where these rules were complied with success followed—and great success it is.

George McKerrrow, one of Wisconsin's greatest farmers, says that his alfalfa is worth $80 per acre per year. Hundreds of others of the best farmers of the state agree with this statement.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE MAN WHO BOSSED

By LAWRENCE ALFRED CLAY

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The doctor had been making an examination of Miss Joyce Harland's lungs, and he reported to her and her widowed mother:

"The left lung is slightly affected."

"Dear me!" stghed the mother. "I don't believe it!" bluntly said the girl.

"Slightly affected, and should be seen to at once."

"Must she go to Colorado?" "N-o-o, I think not. My advice is that she go to Pine Hill. What she needs is the aroma of the pines."

"Then I'll get it by sitting in a lumber yard right here at home."

"But where is Pine Hill?" queried the mother.

"It's thirty miles down the country. There are forty acres of pine in one tract. I know of a very nice old lady who would board your daughter and give her every attention."

"You can tell her that I'm going to Bar Harbor," said Miss Joyce.

"And she should be out doors among the pines as much as possible and practice deep breathing."

"I won't practice any kind of breathing at all."

"She should stay all summer."

"I won't stay two hours."

"I shall write to the old lady today, and tell her that your daughter will be there next week. I wouldn't lose time in getting her off. She needn't take seven or eight trunks full of clothes."

"I'll take twenty trunks if I want to!"

"I'll call again after I hear from Mrs. Rush," said the doctor.

"You can call and be hanged to you!" were the last words he heard as the door closed on him.

But—Miss Joyce brought up among the pines and began drawing deep breaths while yet two miles from the first tree. Much to her astonishment, she liked Mrs. Rush—the house—the table—the cat—her bed and everything else for five miles around. There was just one shadow and that came two days later.

Back of the house was a creek which went babbling to the sea. The name of the sea is withheld for obvious reasons, but it may be safely stated that the water in the creek was all of six inches deep.

If a girl had never seen a creek before—if it were a hot day—if not a man was in sight, any girl would do just what this girl did. She stripped off shoes and stockings to have a wade. She was wading up and down and digging her toes into the gravel when a man appeared.

"Get right out of that cold water at once!" said the man.

The girl's first inclination was to scream, the next to run; the third to stand there in the middle of the creek and demand: "And who are you, sir?"

"Dr. George Gay," was the reply.

"And when did I employ you to give me advice?"

He was very young and had been in practice, such as it was, only a few months. In fact, as he was fairly wealthy, he was rather hiding away in the woods so as not to practice on anything more serious than a farmer's sore heel or his wife's toothache.

"You'll have a nice cold in the head and a sore throat by tomorrow," he said as he passed on.

"How dare he—how dare he!" muttered the girl as he disappeared.

"He is rather good looking, but he can't be much of a doctor, and he'll find out he can't boss me!"

When she went back to the house and told Mrs. Rush of the incident, that motherly woman replied:

"Gracious me, that creek comes from an ice-cold spring, and it was very imprudent of you!"

"But what brought him sneaking around there?"

"He didn't even know you were here."

"But he had no authority to command me to get right out."

"Mebbe not."

"And—and I hate him!"

Next morning there was a sore throat, a fever and now and then a jump from a tooth. Miss Joyce got up to breakfast and fought to stay up, but it was no use. She had just lopped down on the family lounge when Dr. Gray arrived. Without a word of preface he walked over to the patient and took her hand and began to feel her pulse.

"What do you mean, sir?" demanded the patient as she sat up.

"Fever and sore throat, just as I predicted."

"But I didn't send for you!"

"But I am here just the same, and I shall leave some medicine to be taken every hour. Also, a gargle."

"I won't take them. I hate you!"

"Go ahead and hate, but Mrs. Rush will see that you take what I leave for you."

"I never will do it!" said the girl to the woman; but she did. She dosed and gargled, and after four days she could swallow again.

Dr. Gray called a second time, saw that the patient was better and went away without a word.

"I'll hate him bald headed!" vowed Miss Joyce, but in her heart she had to admit that she both feared and respected him. At any rate, she couldn't bully him.

After she got out again the girl longed for a room in the woods. It was so quiet and cool and pleasant under the tall pines that it was enticing. Without a word to Mrs. Rush she started off. Born and reared in a city, with a sign at every corner and a policeman in the middle of the block, it was no wonder that in ten minutes she was bewildered in the forest. The fright that always comes with it attacked her, and of course she ran in the wrong direction. She had been gone from the house two hours when Dr. Gray came along and was told so. She might have walked up the highway or down it, but he figured that the woods would have drawn her, and he entered them in search.

After half an hour Miss Joyce was found. She was seated on a log weeping, and she expected to be torn to pieces by a lion or tiger any minute. The doctor had been standing before her for a long minute before she looked up.

"Come!" he said, and he took her by the arm and led her out to the highway.

"Mrs. Rush's place is right down the road about a quarter of a mile."

Not a word of advice, sympathy or congratulation.

"Oh, how I hate you!" she exclaimed over her shoulder.

He called that evening, but all his conversation was directed to Mrs. Rush. That he had received a more liberal education than she had the girl had to admit to herself, but while admitting it she mentally exclaimed:

"If Abel was such a man as Dr. Gay, I don't blame Cain one little mite for killing him!"

Three days later as she hunted for that ice cold spring which was the source of the creek, she found it necessary to cross the creek. It was at a sandy spot, and as she alighted after a spring she found her feet in the clutch of the quick sands. She had never heard of such a thing. Had she thrown herself forward and seized a bush she could have drawn herself out, but in her surprise she began trying to lift her feet. Her efforts sunk her deeper. Dr. Gay had just called at the house when he heard her screams. He knew of that bed of quicksand and headed for it. He shouted to the floundering

Dr. Gay had just called at the house when he heard her screams. He knew of that bed of quicksand and headed for it. He shouted to the floundering

ing girl as he came in sight of her and the next minute he was there extending the end of a pole to her. It was a hard pull to release the victim, who was covered with mud from head to foot as she lay on the grass, and the doctor and Mrs. Rush had a good hour's work ahead of them. When it was finished the M. D. observed:

"Better cover up the barrel of soft soap, Mrs. Rush. She'll be taking a bath in it next."

"Oh, how I hate you!" was the reply from the half-asleep girl.

There was to be one more adventure before Cupid could step in. In a meadow half a mile from the house was a grand old pine—the only tree in the field. One afternoon Miss Joyce took her book and went down to sit in the shade and read. She had read awhile and thought awhile and was doing so some more when Dr. Gray appeared on a run and seized her by the arm and lifted her to her feet and exclaimed:

"Run! Run! Don't you see that a thunderstorm is close at hand?"

She hung back and protested, but she was dragged along to the house. As they reached it a thunderbolt struck the big pine and made splinters of it and jarred the earth for a mile around.

"For the last twenty years everybody has said that it would happen!" remarked the doctor.

"Oh, how I—"

She didn't finish. She began to cry.

It was a week later, for the doctor was not an impetuous man, that he quietly said:

"Joyce, I've always said that I should marry a girl that hated me."

"Maybe I've got over hating you," she said with a blush.

"Then I'll marry a girl that loves me!"

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Children's Game on The Roof.

DADDY had seen some little children playing on the roof of a city house, and he told Jack and Evelyn about it as soon as he got home.

"What were they playing?" asked Evelyn.

"They were playing 'afternoon tea.' You know it really was a very hot afternoon, especially in the city, and I suppose those children went up on the roof to get cool, for it was pretty hot on the pavements for playing."

"And now I must tell you what they had to eat. They had cambric tea, which one of the mothers had given them. They waited until it got quite cool so they could drink it, and then they poured it out into little cups. They also had patty cakes and chocolate creams."

"But they had a great many make believe dishes. With cotton wool they made some of the most delicious looking ice cream. Of course it was too beautiful to try, but it made their tea table look most attractive."

"They made chocolate cake out of some mud they had found in one of the back yards near by, and to make it look very rich—as if a great deal of chocolate had been put into it—they kept putting an extra supply of water on it."

"After they had had a most delicious tea, with real things to eat, and 'pretend' things for decorations they decided they would play some games."

"Now, the roof was not large enough for any very lively games or any games with much running to them, but they thought up a fine one right away."

"They played a game called the 'mirror game.'"

"How do you play it, daddy?" inquired Evelyn.

"First of all," said daddy, "you put a mirror in the center of a ring around which are sitting all the children with the exception of one and the ones who are waiting for their turn."

"This one must hide somewhere. Then one child inside the ring is decided upon to imitate the actions of the child who has been hiding. The one who has been hiding is supposed to guess whose face the mirror reflects as she looks into it."

"It is a very old, old game, and I was quite surprised to see these children playing it. They can have a lot of fun, for the ones who are left out to guess have no idea of the secret, and the one who hides before her turn never gives the secret away as she is admitted into the circle afterward."

"Years ago little children used to play this game. Way back in the days of our great-grandmothers they knew this game, and I suppose the children enjoyed it especially today, because it was such a hot afternoon, and they didn't have to exert themselves at all to play it."

an embankment and carried all the occupants of the machine with it. In some manner all escaped any serious injury, with the exception of one whose name cannot be learned, and who suffered a broken arm and internal injuries.

The machine, which had only been in the possession of Mr. Farr for a week, was damaged beyond repair. The injured member of the party is receiving medical attention at Stoddard, while the others have returned here to their homes none the worse for their miraculous experience.

HOP GROWING SUCCEEDS

Experiments in the production of hops at Port Wing have been so successful that a number of farmers there are planning to go quite extensively into their production. The crop grown there last year was very acceptable in the markets, and was pronounced superior by growers in the Pacific coast territory. This will add another good crop in the northern country.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says This Old-Time Eczema Remedy is Applied Like Cold Cream

Any irritation or breaking out on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and feverish, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur cream, says a noted dermatologist.

He states that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up leaving the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin affections. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream.

THE PHILHARMONIC AND UNION PLAYERS

Unquestionably the Philharmonic society is one of the most desirable institutions in La Crosse. Also, without a doubt, the Musicians' union is necessary for the good of the city. Both are to promote the same spirit and they stand for the same things. It follows that they should get together, and work together.

Both Leigh Toland, president of the society, and Herman Schuman, secretary of the union, have shown excellent spirit in the present difficulty, arising, apparently, over the payment of certain union players at the Philharmonic concert. Mr. Toland in his communication suggests that it is time to read out of the union members who are working for discord.

From the letter, printed in The Tribune Monday night, and written by the secretary of the union, it is more than evident that the union, taken as a whole, is with the Philharmonic. This society, without a question, is with the union.

So far as the merits of the incident under discussion are concerned, Secretary Schuman was obliged to explain that the over-charge of which President Toland complains, was not in violation of any union rule, but simply was not the minimum price that might have been charged under the rules. The answer is, and no doubt Secretary Schuman so feels, that if ever there was a place where the minimum price should have been charged, it was in the service of the Philharmonic society.

To but one class of people does the Philharmonic society bring financial profit—to the professional musician. To others it brings enjoyment, elevating influence, better ideals. But in cultivating a demand for good music in the community it means dollars to the musician.

If there are, among the members of the union, one or two or three who are opposed to the Philharmonic society the difficulty should be settled at once. Most of the union men are ready to do everything possible, and so are the members of the amateur organization.

Until they get together the Philharmonic society will not be able to give to the community a full return for the efforts expended, and neither will the union be filling its main function as a union.

La Crosse people, interested in music and in unionism, hope for a speedy settlement of the difficulties.

Narrow Escape.

"Harry, dear," said the anxious wife, "don't you think you are giving too much attention to base ball?"
"No, love. It is the greatest of outdoor sports, and you know that I must have some relaxation from business."
"I realize that, but I fear that but I fear that you are becoming so devoted to it that it is working on your mind."
"Where did you get such an idea?"
"The other night I heard you talking about highballs in your sleep."

SEEK NORTHERN LANDS

Reports come from Forest county to the effect that settlers are coming to the county much more rapidly than in the past. At Crandon the purchase of land by thirteen people recently is reported and at Armstrong Creek in the same county a larger number have come in recent weeks. The county has had a slow growth until recently, but from now on the situation will be very different. The local people have found that all there is to the matter is to get people to come and see what is obtainable.

POTATOES TO COLORADO

Potato growers in the upper counties are finding a big demand for seed stock. Many shipments have been made to several states from the Atlantic to the Pacific and to the Gulf. Recently shipments were made from Langlade county to the potato districts of Colorado, where until lately they have claimed to have a monopoly on good patronage.

ALL SUPPORT FAIR

For the first time, this year sees everyone supporting the state fair—and it will be a booster for the state. The building for county displays should be enlarged—for that is the best part of the fair. The cramped conditions of the past in this regard has been a bad drawback. This trouble will doubtless be remedied.

His Brand of English.

At the Union ironworks, San Francisco, a steamer was undergoing repairs. The chief engineer—a Scot, of course—requiring a hammer in a hurried moment, turned to a German mechanic and in his momentary excitement, lapsing into his native speech said, "Gie us yer pelty, mon."
"Vat?" asked the Teuton in surprise.
"Yer pelty—pelty?"
"It's yer hammer he wants," interrupted another Scot, who was also working on the job.

"Thank the Lord there's one mon among ye who understands the king's English!" growled the chief engineer as he took the "pelty."—Argonaut.

A Slight.

Butler Gleanzer, at the Players' club in New York, told an anecdote about a New York writer. "Skrawle," Mr. Gleanzer said, "has been in a deuce of a bad temper the last week or two." "Why so?" a player asked. Mr. Gleanzer's calm eyes twinkled behind his pince-nez as he answered: "Well, you see, the Trash magazine has declined an article by Mrs. Skrawle for its 'Wives of Great Men' series."

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

At Last.

When on my day of life night is falling,
And in the winds, from unsunned spaces blown,
I hear far voices of darkness calling
My feet to paths unknown.

Thou who has made my home of life so pleasant,
Leave not its tenant when its wall decay;
O Love Divine, O helper ever present,
Be Thou my strength and stay!

Be near me when all else from me is drifting;
Earth, sky, home's picture, days of shade and shine,
And kindly faces to my uplifting
The love which answers mine.

I have but Thee, my Father! let thy spirit
Be with me then to comfort and uphold,
No gate of pearl, no branch of palm I merit,
Nor street of shining gold.

Suffice it if—my good and ill unreckoned,
And both forgiven through Thy abounding grace
I find myself by hands familiar beckoned
Unto my fitting place.

Some humble door among Thy many mansions,
Some sheltering shade where sin and striving cease,
And flows forever through heaven's green expansions
The river of Thy peace.

There, from the music round about me stealing,
I fain would learn the new and holy song,
And find at last beneath Thy trees of healing
The life for which I long.

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

The Editor's Job.

How would you like to be the editor of the home paper, and sit at your desk six days of the week, four weeks of a month, and 12 months of a year, and have such copy as the following to edit? Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip and cut herself in the pantry. "A mischievous lass of Picketown threw a stone and struck Mr. Pike in the alleyway on Tuesday." "John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week, looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch." "While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise home from the social Saturday night a savage dog at-

Began With Small Red Spots. Cried Almost Day and Night. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in One Week.

R. F. D. No. 2, Jackson, Mo.—"Our daughter who is ten months old was suffering from an eruption all over the body. In the beginning they were small red spots and afterwards turned to bloody sores. We tried all sorts of ointments but they did not procure any relief for our child. She had no rest day or night and we tried everything to procure relief for our baby."

She cried almost day and night and we scarcely could touch her, because she was covered with sores from head to foot. "We had heard about the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and made a trial with them, and after using the remedies, that is to say, the Soap and the Ointment, only a few days passed and our child could sleep well and after one week she was totally well." (Signed) August F. Bartels, Nov. 25, 1912.

As London Views Kansas.

In that part of Kansas where they need rain, certain church congregations have united to petition for it. "Didn't I see your husband going to church today?" one Kansas woman inquired of another.
"Yes; he went to ask for rain."
"His faith must be pretty strong."
"Yes; he wore his rain coat and took his overshoes and his oldest umbrella."
"It didn't rain."
"No; but he brought back a much better umbrella than the one he took away."—London Evening Standard.

Choosing The Lesser Evil.

The little boy was evidently a firm believer in the old adage, "Of two evils choose the least." Turning a corner at full speed he collided with the minister.
"Where are you running to, my little man?" asked the minister, when he had regained his breath.
"Home!" panted the boy. "Ma's going to spank me."
"What?" gasped the astonished minister. "Are you eager to have your mother spank you that you run home so fast?"
"No," shouted the boy over his shoulder as he resumed his homeward flight, "but if I don't get there before pa he'll do it!"

A Question settled.

After she had said yes they began to talk about the future. She observed:
"Now a brown stone front on Swellville avenue would be about our style—say two hired girls at first."
"My idea, dearest, is to live with your father for a year or so until we save a little money, and then—"
"Live with my father! Not much sir! I insist upon having a house of my own—servants of my own."
"But darling, think of the snap we would have—think what we save—think—"
"Impossible, sir!"
"It's the best plan."
"Then we won't be married if I can't have my own way."
"I must have my own way too."
She was in tears—he was pale and determined. After a few minutes the father in question softly entered the room and said:
"Children, I have decided that when you get married I shall come and live with you the rest of my life."

New Jersey claims to have enough pepper plants to supply the whole country, in which case it should be easy to squeeze out a small consignment for her favorite adopted son, Woodrow.

The Great New Historical Romance

John O' Jamestown

By VAUGHN KESTER

Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

At sea—off the Downs! Now I understood the shrieking of the wind without, and the pitching and tossing; but whither were we bound? This I asked Smith.

"To America, or to be exact, that new land named Virginia, in honour of our late peerless virgin Queen!" said he.

Hearing this I would have quitted my bed had it been possible, but when I made the effort it was only to fall back weak and exhausted, with a dancing mist before my eyes.

"Nay—nay!" said John Smith gently. "It will be some days yet before you get your legs, so lie quiet. But tell me, who are you that seem acquainted with Captain John Smith—though even that can wait, if the effort is too much for you."

But I was anxious he should know who I was, and I recalled our meeting at Alford; and when I had done, he burst out into another of his great cheery laughs.

"So it was there we met! I remember you well, Mr. Farraday, and your good uncle."

"If I could but leave my bed!" I groaned, for now I was thinking of Mary and my father and mother, and Betty, and Dane's Hill farm. How were they to know what had befallen me?

"But you cannot, Farraday; though you can tell me how you chance to be here in this plight, with a broken head—and a soldier," said Smith.

But I was not able to tell John Smith my story then. Indeed, I had but made little progress when I had to give over from my weakness, and the surgeon, Mr. Watton, joining Smith at my bedside, would have me kept silent; and I presently I fell off into a troubled, fitful sleep.

For between the beating I had received and the subsequent drugging, I had been brought as near death as a man could be brought, and live; and I doubt if I would have survived the ordeal through which I passed if it had not been for John Smith's care for me.

He had constituted himself my staunch friend and nurse from the very moment he had learned of my plight, as I was told afterwards, and this because of the very hearty good that was in him. And through all these days when I was more dead than alive he had cared for me with his man's strength and his more than man's tenderness.

It was not until after the day after that first complete awakening that I was able to tell him my story to which he listened with a ready sympathy, being greatly moved by the recital.

"You have been saved by God's mercy, Farraday!" he said when I had done. "I doubted much if you would ever recover consciousness, for you slept, so to call it, through the noise that the shipping made as we dropped down the river from Blackwall."

"I heard the cannon," I said.
"But you lay as if you heard naught. I was for having you put ashore, but perhaps I did you harm there."

"In what respect?" I said.
"Why, Wingfield and some of the other prime movers in the adventure, who are aboard, seem rather to think they must go counter to my opinion in all matters; so perhaps, if I had advocated keeping you here it would have resulted in their sending you ashore. But to say true, a goodly number of our company came aboard as helpless as babes from their farewells at the taverns, and some of them brought broken heads, too; so it would have been difficult to discriminate."

"How was I brought here, and by whom?" I asked, for that was a mystery I wanted solved.
But Smith shook his head.

"That I have not been able to learn. They tell me you were one of the last to be put aboard, being brought out to us in a tilt boat as we lay in the river. 'Tis plain Captain Maxwell, of whom you tell me, took this method of getting rid of you. But one thing is sure, Farraday, the King's shilling once taken, or even sworn to have been taken, and attestation made, there is no help for the recruit unless he is bought out by his friends; so you must bear up and make the best of a bad business. When we reach Virginia, I promise you I will use my best endeavors to have you sent back by the returning ships."

But there was little comfort to me

GETTING BETTER COWS.

During recent months there has been a greater interest in the upper Wisconsin counties than ever before in the matter of securing better cows and more of them for the farmers. In that portion of the state until recently most of the settlers have been people of very small means. They have been assisted in getting stock by local business men, bankers and land companies. But now the demand is getting beyond the ability of individuals to supply, which makes it essential that there should be a more organized plan for supply.

In practically every county organizations have been perfected for getting cows. In recent weeks carload lots have been shipped into Marinette, Langlade, Oneida, Rusk, Douglas and perhaps other counties. Most of these cows were secured in the southern Wisconsin counties. The new north is thoroughly awake to the situation, and outside buyers of Wisconsin's good cows will find a warm competition in the future.

The Roth Brothers conduct a big store in Superior. They have a large farm of 850 acres a few miles from that city, with 400 acres improved. They decided two years ago to sell it. About that time they got the idea that alfalfa ought to be tried out—it would help sell the farm. A field was solved. Hogs were put on and fattened on the alfalfa. Then they decided not to sell the farm.

The Coveted Hand.

"Which hand? The one she signs checks with, I suppose."

STRIKERS' WIVES TELL THE PRESIDENT OF GREAT WRONGS DONE IN COLORADO

Judge Lindsey, the famous Denver juvenile court judge, brought these three miners' wives from the Colorado mining district to Washington to tell their story of the Ludlow massacre to the president. Mrs. Jolly is called the "heroine of the Ludlow battle," because of her care of the wounded under fire during the fight. Mrs. Petrucci lost three children when the tent colony burned, and Mrs. Thomas saved the lives of fifty children by keeping them in a well.

MRS. MEDARY HEAD OF CHARITY HOME

Home for Friendless Society Holds Its Annual Meeting and Reports Progress

Mrs. J. S. Medary was yesterday elected president of the society of The Home for the Friendless, at the annual meeting. Other officers chosen were Mrs. Abbie Burton, vice president; Mrs. Friend Sutter, secretary; Mrs. Gysbert Van Steenwyk, treasurer.

Mrs. R. B. Gelatt, L. F. Easton, Homer Hart and Forrest Smith and Miss Mary Crosby were elected directors for three years.

The secretary's report follows: "During the past year forty persons, six elderly women and thirty-four children have been cared for at the home. Through the winter months the family was unusually large, from thirty to thirty-six being reported each month. At present there are two elderly women and twenty-five children being cared for. "The doors of the Home have been open, as in the past, to homeless and helpless women and children. One little girl has been adopted from the Home the past year. There has been a good deal of sickness in the family. The children have had whooping cough, measles and colds. Three of the children have been operated upon.

"Four elderly women who had been at the Home several years passed away during the winter. A great deal of praise is due Mrs. Jones, the matron, for her patience and kindness to those in the Home.

"Each month donations have been received and Valentine's Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas a very generous supply was received. It is through the generosity of the public spirited citizens of La Crosse that a home is maintained for these destitute women and children. The directors wish to thank all those who have responded so generously to their call for money and supplies, thus enabling them to provide a home for unfortunate ones.

DAINTY FROCKS FOR THE SUMMER DANCE OR SEMI-FORMAL AFTERNOON AFFAIR.

As tea dancing is still so popular, summer frocks are being designed with the idea in view that many times the simple little frock of crepe or net will be called to serve as a dance frock; they are, therefore, comfortably short and conveniently wide.

The graceful frock of bordered crepe shown in Number 8355, has a kimono bodice, with the front in bolero effect, a slightly raised waistline and a draped vest; the skirt is trimmed with two gathered ruffles set on at hip depth.

A softly colored Georgette crepe is used here with vest and small collar of white organdy; the frills in the sleeves and the ruffles on the skirt are of flowered net. The wide folded satin girdle of reseda green gives an effective finish to the frock. These crepes are priced from about 75 cents a yard and up.

This frock requires to make in size 36, 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. In this small dress (8350) we see the ruffle gracefully brought into the little maid's modes. The dress is of figured mull and the frills on skirt and blouse are of net. It closes in the back, has a full gathered waist and a straight little skirt.

Either of these designs, made up in white, would be attractive for graduation exercises.

Number 8355, sizes 34 to 42.

Number 8350, sizes 10, 12 and 14.

One belonged to George Umberger of La Crescent, Minn., the other to Mrs. George Camp, La Crescent.

The horses had been pastured on the Minnesota side and, it is believed, got onto the track near Bridge Switch.

The Advantage of GAS

A woman cannot work overtime in a furnace-like kitchen with a coal range or a range heated with wood in hot weather without paying the penalty. A good Gas Range means a cool, clean kitchen, a fire without a minute's wait, that can be regulated with a thumb-screw, dinner in half the time, and positively no fuel to handle and no ashes to fight.

Is the fire too hot? A touch of the finger and you have a slow fire for angel food, another touch and in a moment you have all the fire you need for baking biscuits. With a good recipe book, a clock and a gas stove anyone can cook. The book tells you how to prepare dishes, the gas gives the degree of heat needed, and the clock tells when the food is done.

When all housewives know what it means to cook with gas, no one will undertake to keep house without it.

DIAMONDS WATCHES JEWELRY W. T. IRVINE, Jeweler

429 Main Street

Graduation is near at hand. What to give often proves a hard problem to solve. Oftentimes, presents are given that in a few weeks or months wear out and the donor and present passes from one's memory and both are forgotten.

The Goldsmith's and Silversmith's art offers the most lasting and beautiful gifts for an occasion like this. Give something that will last for a life time. The present is sure to be more appreciated in ten or twenty years than the day it is given and brings back pleasant memories of the donor and the happy event. Have the present engraved with dates and initials and it will be doubly appreciated.

Here is a list of presents that will last for a life time.

Diamond Rings, $12.00 to $25.00, full cut diamonds. Others at $35 and up.
La Valliers, set with real diamonds, from $5, $6.75, $8.50, $12 up.
Signet Rings for boys, $4.00 to $7.00; for girls, $2.50 to $5.00.
Neck Chains and Lockets, $6.75 to $15.00.
Scarf Pins, $1.25 to $6.00.
Cuff Links, $2.25 to $5.00.
Gold Beads, $6.00 to $12.00.

Watches, Elgin and Waltham, 15 jewels, open face, 14k solid gold cases, for either boys or girls, $18.00 to $35.00.
Gold Coat Chains, $5.50 to $10.00.

Every article in the above list is the best grade of solid gold, not a piece of filled or plated material used.

Here are other handsome and enduring presents:
Silver Spoons, each 60c, 75c, 80c, 90c, all the newest patterns.
Silver Thimbles, very heavy, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, $1.00.
Scissors, sterling handles, 75c, 90c, $1.00.

We have largely increased our stock this year to afford prospective purchasers an opportunity to see and examine the best of everything in the jewelry line.

Empress of Ireland, Which Sank in St. Lawrence River with a Large Number of Passengers and Crew

The Canadian Pacific Railroad company steamship, Empress of Ireland, the best boat of the railroad fleet plying between Montreal and Liverpool, was sunk early Friday morning thirty miles east of Father Point in the St. Lawrence river. The vessel carried more than 1,400 passengers and crew, among them being Lawrence Irving, son of Sir Henry Irving, and his wife, Mabel Hackney.
Twelve hours after the collision it was admitted by officials of the railroad that some 850 persons had been lost. Canadian government officials at the scene believed that at least 1,000 had gone down. The actual loss proved to be 969.

The ship was struck by the collier

Storstad, bound in, while the Empress of Ireland was on her way across the Atlantic.

The liner was 548 feet long, with a beam of 65 feet, a draft of 36 feet
and a displacement of 14,191 tons.
Her commander was H. G. Kendall, who was given command of the vessel a week ago. He was picked out of 100 Canadian Pacific captains as being the best for the place. Captain Kendall was in command of the steamship Montrose when Crippen,
the London wife murderer, was caught on board. The captain picked him out among the passengers and by use of the wireless sent for the police to take him on his arrival.

BACK TO THE FARM GIVEN BY STUDENTS

Annual Senior Class Play of Agricultural School Is to Be Given on Thursday

"Back to the Farm" is the name of the play to be given by the senior class of the Agricultural school on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the new Crystal theater in Onalaska.

The play is written by a University of Minnesota man and is used for extension work by them all over the state.

No farmer should miss it—whether he is of the old or new school—he will get a new light on agricultural education. So will his wife, if she comes, see how home economics
can be put to practice on the farm.
The farm animals will be there
and so will barn scenes.

THINK WINTERS CASE WILL FAIL

Believed Charges Against Parents of Lost Girl Will Not Be Pressed

NEWCASTLE, Ind., June 3.—
Forces backing Dr. W. A. Winters, father of the missing Catherine, appeared today to have the upper hand. It was freely predicted that the charges against Dr. Winters, Mrs. Winters and W. R. Cooper, the former boarder at the Winters' home
that they had conspired to murder
and burn the body of the child who disappeared mysteriously over a year ago will not be pressed.

Robert H. Abel, detective, who claimed to have uncovered the mystery could not be located early today.
Prosecutor Walter R. Myers threatened to dismiss the conspiracy charges unless Abel returned.

games he pitched for the Cincy Reds were all lost. But he has pitched five games since and won them all.
Ames was formerly with the New

SLEEPY DIRECTOR COULDN'T GET IN

J. S. Elton of New Haven Board Says Proceedings Went Too Fast

WASHINGTON, June 3.—James S. Elton, New Haven director, described by former President Mellen as being the man who went to sleep most frequently at the directors' meetings, was the first witness to take the stand in the reopening today of the New Haven hearing before the interstate commerce commission.

Mellen, Elton said, dominated the New Haven directorate meetings, but Morgan was able to control them. Sometimes directors "scooped" after Morgan left, he said, but they never had nerve enough to oppose him openly.

The witness said when he attended directors' meetings of the New England Navigation company, they were just the same, except in name, as the New Haven meetings, and that "they went so fast I could not keep up."

Then he added that he believed a good many mistakes had been made but they had been "errors of judgment, but not of the heart, on the part of Morgan and Mellen."

He said he never did understand the "Billard company."

"I asked Mellen about it and he always told me my head was too thick to understand it," said Elton.

SUFFRAGE SCHOOL

HELD AT MADISON

Training Course in Citizenship for the People of the State of Wisconsin

Beginning June 18 and continuing for a week there will be a state school for suffrage conducted at Madison. Expert teachers and prominent speakers are to give lectures during the period.

Full details will be sent if a card is addressed to Mrs. Alice B. Curtis, secretary of the Wisconsin Woman Suffrage association, 431-432 Washington building, Madison.

GETS FOUR "L.C.'S"

"Toots" Garder has the distinction of winning four high school "L.C.'s" in one year. This morning he took his track letter, the fourth. In football and basketball he was one of the fastest men in the state. In baseball he was center gardener and filled that position with a great deal of credit. Although he reported for track work late in the season he tied for first place in the pole vault and took places in other events. His record has seldom been equalled by a high school athlete here.

DECREASE IS SHOWN IN PERMITS TO WED

Only 21 Marriage Licenses Are Issued This Month; 40 in Month of May Last Year

In May of 1913 forty marriage licenses were issued at the court house here. This year only 21 applied for permits.

This is next to the biggest drop of the year. In March of this year, thirteen licenses were issued as against forty-one in 1913.

County Clerk Bert Jolivet is not ready to say what the cause of this decrease is. It is known, however, that a great many La Crosse county people are married in Winona, and other points in Minnesota.

	1913	1914
January	17	18
February	24	18
March	41	13
April	29	24
May	40	21

Totals . . . . . 151 104
Thus far this month one permit has been issued by the clerk.

Grand Master Scheerlin responded for the Odd Fellows, thanking the La Crosse man for the welcome, and telling more of what Odd Fellowship stands for. Mrs. Elsie Lauterbach, president of the Rebekah assembly, responded on behalf of that order.

A general social time and reception was enjoyed by the Odd Fellows and sister order members after the program.

Mrs. Jennie Howe, Black River Falls, treasurer.

Mrs. Elsie Lauterbach, Milwaukee, trustee.

Resolutions of a various nature were passed at the morning session and committees made reports.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Sparta degree staff will put on work. The women will join the Odd Fellows this evening in a ball at Linker hall. Tomorrow afternoon there is to be an excursion on the river.

'MOON SCHEDULE' ON LIGHTS ARE ALL OFF

The greater portion of La Crosse was last night in darkness.

The light company wasn't to blame.

The city has a contract with the utility to furnish lights on a moon schedule. That is the lights are only to burn on such nights as the calendar says the moon is taking a night off.

The moon "double-crossed" the city last night and hid behind heavy storm clouds and the city was in darkness.

LEUM WILL CASE OVER FOR MONTH

Has Been Postponed While Depositions Are Being Taken by Clerk in St. Paul

LOCAL HOSPITAL HAS LAWYER

James Thompson Represents Lutheran Hospital in Will Contest at Viroqua

The Leum will case at Viroqua has been postponed and the trustees of the Lutheran hospital here are preparing a careful case to show that the man was in a sound mind when he made his bequest to them.

Martin Leum was a wealthy bachelor farmer of Westby. He committed suicide and left all his property, valued at $9,000, to the La Crosse institution. Miss Kate Olson, a niece and the only surviving relative, has contested the will and claims that Leum was not of sound mind when he made the document.

Not Until July

James Thompson, La Crosse attorney, has charge of the case for the hospital. He said this morning that the clerk of the Vernon county court was taking some important depositions at St. Paul. The case will probably not be decided now until the middle of July, according to Mr. Thompson.

The will, which is an unusual one in many respects, follows:

The Will

Last will and testament of Martin Leum of the town of Christiania, Vernon county, Wis.

Considering the uncertainty of this mortal life and being of sound mind and memory, I do make and publish this, my last will and testament, in manner and form following:

I give and devise to the Lutheran hospital of La Crosse, Wis., all of my real and personal estate of which I shall die seized or possessed, or to which I shall be entitled at the time of my decease, my farm, situated in section 34, 27, town of Christiania, farm machinery, livestock and household furnishings. I give and bequeath to the said Lutheran hospital its administration and assigns, forever, in witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal, this tenth day of April, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and five.

(Signed) MARTIN LEUM.

Witnesses:

Katherine Leum, Christiania, Vernon county, Wis.

gressive. Let me ask you 'who would want to return to the old order of things?'

Mr. Mohlenpah is an optimist. "We are living in the greatest state in the union," he declared. "We are the greatest dairying state in the nation and our state is devoted largely to agriculture. We have been blessed with soil and climatic conditions enjoyed by but few other states. People who have left here are coming back. I see nothing but prosperity ahead for Wisconsin."

Mr. Mohlenpah was reticent in discussing his proposed candidacy for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. His attitude indicated that he will not enter the race, however.

OKLAHOMA APPEALS FOR HARVEST HELP

With the advance of the season, and the usual bustle in preparation for the harvest, the people of Oklahoma have taken time by the forelock and issued a call for men for the harvest fields.

In a telegram to Hon. W. B. Wilson, secretary of labor, Charles L. Dougherty, state labor commissioner of Oklahoma, asks the help of the public in putting before the farmers of Oklahoma for enough hands to harvest their huge crops. Mr. Dougherty in the telegram said:

"We will need from twelve to fifteen thousand men at from two to two and one-half dollars a day with board, to help harvest our wheat and thresh the same. Eighty-five per cent of the men so employed will be given employment in this state by the farmers in handling the various forage crops which promise a big yield at this time, thereby guaranteeing from four to six months of steady work. The state will maintain free employment bureaus at Oklahoma City, Enid, Alva, Woodward, Frederick and other points."

CULT LEADERS IN AFFINITY TANGLE

NEW YORK, June 3.—Discord in the love vibrations of the Rev. Frank W. Sears and his wife, Mrs. Julia Seton Sears, both New Thought leaders here, and concord in Sears' vibrations with Miss Pauline Langdon, "prettiest girl in the New Thought church," were set forth here today before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich and a jury in Mrs. Sears' suit for divorce.

"Ministering angels" from her New Thought church who testified for Mrs. Sears were offset by other hosts from the Harmony club, a rival association, of which Sears is pastor.

JUDGE UPHOLDS TEN DAY CLAUSE

Chief Johnson Is Restrained from Playing with the Federals in Illinois

CHICAGO, June 3.—Judge Foell in the superior court today made permanent the injunction preventing Pitcher George (Chief) Johnson from playing with the Kansas City team of the Federal league. The injunction was granted on the petition of the Cincinnati National league team after Johnson had jumped his contract with the Reds and signed with the Kansas City Federals. The injunction only prevents Johnson from playing with the Federals within the state of Illinois, where the superior court has jurisdiction.

Judge Foell held that the contract between Johnson and the Reds was one sided and lacked mutuality, and decided that under the laws of Illinois this fact did not void the contract.

The Federals had attacked Johnson's contract with the Cincinnati club because it contained the ten day clause, and it was their contention that this clause invalidate the contract.

Judge Foell held that the Cincinnati club had proved its contention that Johnson was a player of "special skill" and that it had been unable to fill his place. Rights accruing under such contracts were clearly property rights, the court said, and the law provides that property shall be protected.

The Cincinnati club, it is anticipated, will at once seek to obtain similar injunctions in every state in which the Federal league has a club.

Oppose Division

The bankers, almost a unit, opposed the present division, pointing out that the majority of banks do most of their business through Chicago. It was the expressed wish of many Wisconsin banks, prior to the division, that they be included in the Chicago district.

At Country Club

The proposed river excursion was today called off because the steamer Frontenac and barge failed to appear.

Instead the visiting bankers were taken to the Country club from the city hall in autos. There they will be banqueted at 6:30 tonight and the banquet will be followed by a dance.

SUFFS WHIP DOCTOR

MAN THEY BLAME FOR FORCIBLE FEEDING IS LASHED OUTSIDE OF HOLLO-WAY JAIL

LONDON, June 3.—Two young suffragettes today laylaid and horse-whipped Dr. F. E. Forward, deputy governor of Holloway jail outside the prison. A policeman rescued him and arrested his assailants.

This is the second time that Dr. Forward has been whipped by militants outside of Holloway. The suffragettes blame him for forcible feeding of women prisoners.

An attendant in the Bore gallery, on Bond street, was seriously hurt by another militant suffragette, who succeeded in smashing two paintings by local artists on exhibition there. The woman, who refused to give her name when arrested, used a hatchet. When the attendant sought to disarm her, she turned the weapon on him, furiously beating him on the head.

Suffs Miss Editor

BELFAST, June 3.—Two suffragettes of husky appearance and athletic training last night assaulted and seriously injured Editor Anderson of the News-Letter in his office here. The women used their fists and whatever desk ornaments were handy. Anderson was confined to his bed today. The same two militants had previously visited the Telegraph office and similarly dealt with Managing Editor Stewart of that paper.

NEW BANKING ACT LAUDED BY WING

Local Banker Explains Its Application to the Country Bankers at Meeting Today

REMOVES WEAKNESS HE DECLARES

Says Entire Banking World Will Profit by New Law; Loans Are Safe He Maintains

E. M. Wing of the Batavian National bank, today before the meeting of Group 7 of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, declared that the new federal reserve act will add stability to the entire banking system.

His topic was "The Application of the Federal Reserve Act of the Country Bank."

His address follows:

"In discussing the federal reserve act it must be remembered that the powers of the federal reserve board are so broad that the practical application of its provisions is largely in their hands, and they can, by their rulings and regulations, make the new system attractive to non-members or otherwise. It is probable and reasonable to believe, that an effort will be made to induce all of the banks in the country to join the system, and it is with that assumption the following statement is made. It should be borne in mind that until the reserve board has defined and classified commercial paper and fixed definite rules covering exchange and clearings, any interpretation by a mere banker is purely speculative."

Supply Source

"However, there are some features and provisions of the law that appear to be clear. Whatever may be its defects, it does provide a source of supply of currency when needed, and it does provide a place of redemption; it provides for the mobilizing of the reserves of the country, to an extent modified by the twelve banks instead of one, and it ends the accumulation of these reserves in New York, where there has been only one possible use for them, and that a bad use; it gives authority to a central body to suspend all reserve requirements, should it become necessary; and it provides a means of protection for our gold supply."

Removes Weakness

"In all of these respects it removes a source of weakness in our present system and by so doing brings a feeling of confidence and security to the minds of both the bankers and the depositors. The whole business world as well as the banks will profit by the added stability of our banking system. The control of the system is with the small banks and the government, not with the big city banks, and there is no doubt that the interests of the country banker, which include all of us here today, are identical and bound up in the interests of the people who are our neighbors and customers and stockholders."

Must Decide Question

"Whether a non-member bank, especially the country banks—which includes all banks in Wisconsin outside Milwaukee, in the definition of the federal reserve act—will benefit equally with the member banks, or sufficiently to justify them in staying out of the system, is a matter of opinion to be decided by conditions surrounding each bank, but it is of interest to examine the average condition and changes required by the new law as shown by all the National bank members of the new system in Wisconsin outside of Milwaukee based on their report of March 4th.

"On that date these banks had net deposits of one hundred million dollars against which fifteen per cent must be carried. Of these deposits twenty-six million are savings accounts, thirty-one million are time certificates, and forty-three million are demand deposits. Included in the last amount are eleven million of demand certificates most of which will probably be changed to time certificates, but for the purpose of this estimate, they will be included in demand deposits. After three years the required reserve will be twelve per cent on demand deposits and five per cent on time deposits."

Required Deposits

"On fifty-seven millions of time deposits the required reserve will be $2,850,000; on forty-three millions demand deposits the required reserve will be $5,160,000; or a total required reserve of $8,010,000. Of this reserve four-twelfths must be in cash in the vaults, $2,670,000, and five-twelfths deposited with the federal reserve bank, $3,340,000, and in vault or reserve bank at option of member bank, three-twelfths, $2,000,000."

To Offset Loss

"This is an average of eight per cent as compared with the 15 per cent now required of both national and state banks. National banks are now required to carry six per cent in legal tender in their vaults, so that the total reserve they must carry without interest in addition to the amount now carried in cash, will be $2,000,000 and the loss in interest at two per cent on this amount is $40,000. It is clear that a slight reduction in the present reserves and a corresponding increase in loans will offset the loss of interest on reserve balances. But the total reserve requirements are reduced $7,000,000 and that much money that is now drawing two per cent interest can be loaned at an average rate of at least five per cent, so that a bank inclined to go to the limit of its loaning power, can materially increase its profits. While the state bank law does not require any definite amount of reserve to be carried in vault, the

March statements show that about five and one-half per cent was actually carried in cash, so these average figures would be but slightly changed for them.

Loans Are Safe

"A bank with a reasonable amount of paper that could be discounted in case of necessity, might safely loan to the legal limit. This paper not only includes commercial paper, given for 'industrial, agricultural or commercial purposes' with a maturity at the time of discount of not to exceed ninety days, but paper 'drawn or issued for agricultural purposes, or based upon livestock' and having a maturity of not exceeding six months, and most Wisconsin banks should have a liberal amount of loans that come under one or the other definition, if given a liberal construction by the federal reserve board. And the law discriminates in favor of short time commercial assets as against long time investment assets, which a commercial bank should carry only in limited amounts."

"Of great importance to the country banker will be the change in the method of clearing local checks and the provision of the law covering the charging of exchange."

Credit at Par

"A member bank can send all of its exchange to its regional bank for credit. All items on member banks must be credited at par. These items within the district will probably be charged to the account of the bank on which they are drawn and sent direct to that bank. Items on banks in other districts will be sent to the regional bank of that district and distributed by them to the member banks drawn on, so that clearings will be direct and at par so far as member banks are concerned and to that extent there will be an end to indirect routing and par lists. Any charge made to the regional bank by its member banks is limited to actual cost as fixed by the federal reserve board and must be absorbed by the regional bank. Member banks, however, are permitted to charge their customers exchange on checks cleared through the system at a rate to be fixed by the federal reserve board."

"If desired a member bank can draw all of its exchange on its regional bank, and its drafts must be accepted at par by all other regional banks, so that in theory at least, a member bank can carry all its reserve with its regional bank, draw all its exchange on that bank, and receive from its regional bank all items on itself that go through members of the system."

"It is apparent that the federal reserve board can make rules limiting the advantages of this clearing system to member banks, that may be quite as effective in forcing state banks into the system, as were some of the provisions of the law in compelling the national banks to quite unanimously come in. On the other hand if the non-members can clear these items through members and still be free to do as they please about charging exchange on items drawn on themselves, it may be of advantage to be a non-member as far as the exchange question is concerned. It is also plain that as far as member banks are concerned, they must either lose most of their revenue from exchange or collect it from their own customers, where the charge rightly belongs. Which alternative will be the accepted one depends on competition and the federal reserve board."

Loans on Real Estate

"The prohibition against real estate loans by national banks is removed by the federal reserve act, and national banks are now permitted to hold farm loans, within its reserve district, to an amount equal to one-third of their time deposits."

"Contrary to expectation, there is no provision for the compulsory retirement of the present National bank currency or any limitation to the amount now outstanding, and while National banks are not now required to purchase government bonds, they are still permitted to deposit such bonds, available for that purpose and issue currency against them."

"Deposits of postal savings funds can only be made with bank members of the reserve system."

"State banks can retain their state charter and become members provided their stock is the minimum required of National banks, in places of the same size, $25,000 in cities and towns under 3000; $50,000 from 3,000 to 6000; $100,000 and $200,000 over 50,000 population. Such banks must also comply with the provisions of the National bank law regarding loans, dividends and reports and examinations. Of the 623 state banks January 1, 1914, 345 had less than the minimum capital of $25,000, and are therefore not eligible for membership without increasing their capital."

"To summarize, the advantages to members of the federal reserve system seem to be as follows:

"A place of redemption."

"A source of supply of currency."

"The advantages of the clearing

APPROACH VOTE ON CANAL TOLLS

Expect Settlement of Exemption Repeal in the Senate by Saturday

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Set speeches on the Panama tolls question closed today and the real battle, which will end with the final roll call, began.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who has been the mouth piece of President Wilson on the tolls question since the bill came to the senate, spoke today. On the other side, Senator Vardaman of Mississippi, flayed what he said was the "un-American" doctrine of yielding to demands of Great Britain.

At the conclusion of these speeches, pressure for a vote was begun.

No business, Senator O'Gorman had announced, would be allowed to intervene until the final vote on the bill. The leaders hope to have a vote by Saturday.

WHAT NEURASTHENIA IS
Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anaemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

BLAME FOR DELAY UP TO ENGINEER

Mahoney Produces Letters to Show Bradish Is Responsible for Holding Up Viaduct

ALL AWAIT APPROVAL OF PLANS

Four Designs Submitted to Him but Officials Claim He Has Failed to Make a Selection

In a communication to The Tribune today Alderman Paul W. Mahoney puts the blame for the delay on the Rose street viaduct squarely up to City Engineer George P. Bradish.

The alderman backs up his assertions with letters from John H. Roemer of the railroad commission of Wisconsin; C. F. Loweth, engineer for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, and C. M. Larson, engineer for the railroad commission.

John H. Roemer of the commission writes as follows:

"Mr. Loweth of the St. Paul road promised Mr. Larson some time ago that plans would be submitted. Mr. Larson has submitted these, I believe, to your city engineer for his consideration. We will not permit the work to be delayed for another season. It must be completed before fall."

Waits for Bradish
After pointing out that the original order of the commission was unsatisfactory to both the city and the street railway company and that a delay of two years resulted on the city's appeal, Mr. Loweth, the Milwaukee road engineer, says that "On February 9 Mr. George P. Bradish, city engineer, wrote suggesting certain changes or variations in the requirements of the order, and consideration had to be given to these."

"On April 8, I sent to Mr. Larson, chief engineer of the railroad commission, Mr. Bradish, city engineer, and Mr. Valier, general manager of the La Crosse Street Railway company, prints covering four plans of design for the viaduct, and especially of certain details of the approaches, including the alternative designs suggested by Mr. Bradish in his letter of February 9, advising each of these gentlemen that we could not proceed with the details of these approaches pending a decision as to which of the three schemes presented was desired."

City is to Blame
Loweth, after pointing out that all details were in the hands of the commission, says he received a letter from Engineer Larson of the city in which the latter said:

"I wrote to the city some time ago, but have received no answer and am now writing again asking that they express an opinion as to the preference in the matter."

Mr. Larson, in a letter to Mr. Mahoney, says the statements of Mr. Roemer, that the city is to blame for the delay, "is correct, that we are waiting the city's approval of one of the plans."

MRS. ALICE STEBBINS WELLS OF LOS ANGELES WILL DESCRIBE HER WORK AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, who will discuss her work as policeman in Los Angeles, Cal., in the First Methodist church Sunday evening, is noted throughout the United States as perhaps the most famous woman police officer in the country. She has spent four years upon the Los Angeles force.

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen, who has been trying for a year to secure the city council's sanction to the appointment of a police officer, will introduce Mrs. Wells at the meeting on Sunday night.

It is said that a number of downtown churches will abandon their Sunday evening services in order that the congregations may attend Mrs. Wells' lecture.

Although still a member of the Los Angeles police, Mrs. Wells has been spending much of her time in the last two years lecturing in various cities about the country in advocacy of the woman police officer. New York and Philadelphia, it is said, are among the cities which have appointed women police officers as a result of her activity.

B. S. Steadwell, president of the World's Purity Federation, made arrangements for Mrs. Wells' appearance in La Crosse.

ATHLETICS SHOW
PROFIT FOR YEAR

First Time in History of Local High School that There Is No Deficit in the Treasury

CLEANED UP LAST YEAR'S DEBT

Started with Deficit of $81.40 and Now Have Total of 88 Cents in the Bank

For the first time in the history of the high school, athletics show a balance on the credit side of the ledger, according to a financial report of the season's activities submitted by Faculty Manager Layton Gouldin to a meeting of the athletic council of the school yesterday afternoon.

Starting with a deficit of $81.40
from 1913, the athletic council at the high school now has a balance on hand of 88 cents, with all debts paid.

The difference between the receipts of football, baseball and basket ball games and the expenditures for upkeep of the teams was $233.99 for the season, but the deficit has been made up by hard work upon the part of Gouldin and his student manager assistants in arranging and putting through various entertainments to raise money.

The students who have been instrumental in bringing the athletic council out on the credit side of the ledger are Harry Marshall, Al Mei-nert, Henry Evjen and Harold Bel-sel.

The report, submitted yesterday
was the first financial report ever prepared at the local high school. It

RESOLUTE IS BEATEN

VANITE SHOWS UP BETTER IN LIGHT WIND AND WINS
THE CUP DEFENSE
TRIALS

NEW YORK, June 3.—Although the rating measurements of the cup defense candidates have not yet been made officially, experts today estimated that the Resolute was beaten
by the Vanite yesterday by thirteen minutes, eighteen seconds.

The condition of the winds in the first trial was such that few would go on record today as declaring that the race gave either boat any advantage. The Vanite, which had trailed behind during most of the race, did her best work on the fifth leg of the course, while the Resolute was becalmed for seventeen minutes.

The Defiance, her mast shortened,
is expected to enter the trials by Saturday.

RITCHIE WELSH GO
IS PROBABLY OFF

CHICAGO, June 3.—Nate Lewis, manager for Charley White, spent a lot of money in telegrams to New York when he learned that the Willie Ritchie-Fredie Welsh match
in London is probably off for good.
Lewis is trying to convince Welsh's manager that White is the proper scrapper for the Britisher to meet.

RAIDER IS SHOT.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., June 3.

J. K. Coddling, assistant attorney general, handling the prosecution of illegal liquor sales, is today in a serious condition from a wound received when shot late yesterday by Jake Weismann, whose alleged
"joint" Coddling had just raided.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

BY HAL SHERIDAN

Marquard and Fromme were maul-ed by the Phillies in the first game
of yesterday's duo deker, Cravath
alone getting two home runs.

Jefferson Tesreau evened matters
by blanking the Dooinites in the second encounter.

It took the Cards second division
to halt the frisky Reds by piling up a four run lead on Hermann's hopes in the first.

While the Cards were doing the spanking, Cincinnati fans were meeting to raise a fund of $25,000 to distribute among the Reds "when they win the pennant."

The Red Sox held Mack's champions to an even break in yesterday's double header.

Hooper's triple off Joe Bush gave the first game to the Carrigans but Shawkey set them down in the second.

Slugging Shanks of the Senators
binged out a homer, triple and single and helped the Griffites beat out
the Yanks in the ninth frame.

Wylie Taylor, unknown recruit of the St. Louis Browns, almost became famous, holding the Naps without a hit until the ninth.

The pirates rolled on down hill
dropping their eighth straight game
to the Cubs, who broke into the first division.

The White Sox were not at home
when hits were needed and the Tigers copped their ninth win out of ten meetings with Comiskey's men
this year.

PUTS DYNAMITE

UNDER U. S. BUILDING

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Officials and clerks in the main building of the department of agriculture were thrown into a panic yesterday afternoon when John Jauch, a watchman, ran through the corridors giving an alarm that dynamite was about to explode and destroy the building. Four sticks of the explosive were found, with a fuse which had failed to explode, attached. Jauch was arrested. He confessed that he had placed the explosive and raised the alarm in order to win promotion through his bravery.

Napoleon at Elba.

One hundred years ago Napoleon landed at Porto Farrajo, on the island of Elba, of which he had been made sovereign by the allies. He was received with shouts of joy by the Elban population, who were proud of the sovereign whom the chances of fortune had just thrown upon their shores. The former dictator of Europe proceeded to organize his little island realm with the same care and, as it proved, with the same purpose of aggrandizement he had bestowed on the empire he had forfeited. During the nine months that he remained the "Man of Elba" the world was watching him, and he was watching the world. The suspicion that Elba would yet develop a political volcano was general and, as events proved, was well founded.

Bluffed the Phone.

Hugh O'Donnell, a well-known newspaper man, who has broken into the traveling lecture field, while gathering material for his lecture on Ireland, met a colleen who wished to come to America. O'Donnell pressed her into his employ as a cook in his household. The first morning on the job he was called out on business and told the fair daughter of the Emerald Isle if he was called up on the phone to say he was out. In response to a persistent ringing of the phone bell his wife came downstairs; the cook was busily kneading dough, but paused long enough to shake her rolling pin at the phone, about ten feet away, and was yelling at the top of her voice: "I tell you he's not at home."

Steam Plows for Java.

Another step is to be taken toward the solution of the question of steam plowing in Java, according to the Java Bode. This is due to the initiative of the Netherlands Trading company, which has on its own account secured an engineer from one of the largest plow factories in Europe, with a view to his studying the conditions in Java, and has also put a steam plow to work on one of its estates. Further, "De Volharding" manufactory of Surabaya has asked the sugar syndicate in Java to grant a subsidy of $8,040 for an experiment with a trench digging machine to be made by them specially for use in the island.

MANY ARE EXPECTED

AT CLERKS' SESSION

County clerks of the state will assemble in La Crosse June 16, 17 and 18 for their annual convention. Between fifty and seventy-five are expected at the meeting, according to County Clerk Bert A. Jolivette, who is making preliminary plans for the session. An excursion on the river, visits to various La Crosse business and manufacturing institutions and automobile rides about the city are included in the program. Most of the clerks will bring their wives and families with them.

Reminder of War of 1812.

One hundred years ago a British squadron, carrying 3,000 men, began an attack on Oswego, N. Y., by land and water. The town was defended by about three hundred men, under Captain Mitchell, and a small flotilla, under Captain Woolsey. They defended the place for two days, when they were compelled to yield to superior force. The British loss was 335 men killed and wounded. The Americans lost 60. The object of the British in this expedition was to capture or destroy a large quantity of stores and ammunition at Oswego Falls, but the determined resistance they met caused them to abandon the project. The fort at Oswego was one of the oldest on the Great Lakes, having been built by the English long before the French and Indian war.

The long sash end is extremely popular. It is made of wide soft chiffon velvet, usually black, and is tied in a fussy bow at the back. Used in vivid colors on a black and white frock, it is delightful.

Enrico Caruso has been sued for $100,000 for breaking a woman's heart. It is getting so that breaking hearts is almost as expensive as running a motor car.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 3.—A reassuring firmness prevailed at the Stock market opening today. After an unchanged opening, Union Pacific and Steel both showed a fractional gain. New Haven opened 1/2 up at 64 1/2.

11 a. m.—Save for weakness in Lehigh Valley, the market was strong during the first hour. There was apparently very little except professional trading, but in this the tone was improved.
